Australia at Sunny Side of the Doc

Graeme Mason
CEO, Screen Australia

Australian documentaries and factual programs have entertained, intrigued, challenged and delighted audiences around the world for many decades.

Australian producers are at Sunny Side of the Doc because they want to collaborate with international screen professionals.

Australia is a great production partner for film and television. The producers know how to raise finance and how to deliver quality programs designed for international audiences. Australian producers love to tell good stories: stories that travel with you.

Australians live in an environment that suits production and the government supports the industry in a range of ways. The filmmaking services and facilities are highly sophisticated, cast and crew are well-trained, and a large range of locations are accessible.

It gives me great pleasure to introduce the Australian companies doing business at Sunny Side of the Doc in 2015. They are an impressive group with diverse experience and abundant expertise, who are keen to investigate prospects for working with you.

Screen Australia

We are the Australian Government's major screen agency.

We develop and finance high-quality, innovative and commercially attractive projects designed with audiences in mind. We conduct research, assist the development of local screen culture, and market Australian talent and screen content domestically and internationally.

Screen Australia also administers the Producer Offset incentive and Australia's official Co-production Program.

What is the Producer Offset?

The Producer Offset is a rebate on the production expenditure incurred in Australia when making Australian film and television. Not all expenditure qualifies, but the Offset can be worth up to 20 per cent of Australian spend in the case of television, and up to 40 per cent in the case of film including feature documentary.

Official co-productions can access the Producer Offset

Film and television made under Australia's official co-production arrangements are automatically regarded as Australian, and therefore eligible for the Producer Offset – providing they meet other criteria too.

Australia has co-production arrangements with Canada, China, France, Germany, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Korea, New Zealand, Singapore, South Africa and the UK.

Location and PDV Offsets

Non-Australian productions taking advantage of Australia as a filmmaking centre can access the Location Offset for foreign productions filmed in Australia, or the Post, Digital and Visual Effects (PDV) Offset for productions that use Australia's post-production and visual effects talents, irrespective of where filming occurred.
